Alex,

We are proud to announce the recent success of our laser wire marking program. As the first company to bring the M100L Laser Wire Marker into Canada, we have seen continual growth in the 2+ years we have operated it.

Recently, we have been carrying out high volume wire marking for the Canadian Department of National Defense, via a third party vendor. Upon receiving certification and recognition from the DND, we have since been producing wiring kits for the C130 Hercules Program.

Furthermore, we have gained a lot of interest in the commercial aviation sector, where a number of Boeing vendors have procured our services to support theirs. Aside from engineering services, the wire marking has taken precedence in supporting a lot of Boeing 737 modification/upgrade programs.

The efficiency and reliability of the M100L Laser Wire Marker has supported the growth of our business and allowed us to entertain larger projects which require high turn over rates and high volume wire marking. We plan to continue this trend well into our future.

Thank you,

John Carinha
